Wall Space continues to roll forward in the new building at 116 East Yanonali Street. The Water's Edge exhibit, which lasts through Monday, September 3, includes great contemporary photographs loosely grouped around that perennial summer theme of the place where the waves meet the sand. Don't miss Svjetlana Tepavcevic's The Sea Inside series. These beautifully printed long exposures of ocean waves are the next best thing to getting barreled at Rincon and exist far beyond the "surf art" scene.
